SUMMARY

I love to learn how to do new things no matter what it is. I am able to learn and adapt to new situations very quickly. It is easiest for me to learn and understand things by completing them myself, a very hands-on learner. I work well with others and am more than capable to complete tasks by myself. I would like to work in the more technical hands-on fields for computers but will be more than willing to work on software as well as coding.

PROJECTS

Building PC

Summer 2016

Personal project to build my own computer

I decided to learn how to build my own computer over the summer for personal use at my home. This was a very valuable experience to me as I now know how to put together computers with all of the parts and have a much better understanding of how each individual part works.

EXPERIENCE

Kelchner Fitness Center- Mansfield, PA

2013 – Present

Fitness Assistant

As a fitness assistant at Kelchner Fitness Center, I am there to make sure everything at the gym runs smoothly. I check everyone that comes in at the front desk, and sell memberships to community members. It is my responsibility to make sure everyone is safe and using the equipment correctly. This job has been a very valuable learning experience for me, strengthening my customer service and communication skills.
